

Master of Arts in French Instruction

Department of French & Italian
Indiana University - Bloomington

Designed for graduate students who are preparing for a career as a teacher of high school or small college French, the MAFI degree is a two-year program that leads to a deep understanding of French not only as a spoken language, but as a vessel of personal and cultural expression.

Coursework

The degree offers coursework in the following areas:

- French Language
- Francophone Literature
- Francophone Cultures
- Pedagogy
- Linguistics

while still allowing students to tailor their coursework to their unique interests.

Collaboration

Work with a number of on-campus programs, including:

- The School of Education
- The Department of Second Language Studies
- The Media School
- The Cognitive Science Program
- The Institute for European Studies

Application Deadlines for Fall 2019:

December 1st, 2018 (International applicants)

January 15th, 2019 (U.S. applicants)

Visit our website for more details!

For more information, please contact our Directors of Graduate Study in French:

Professor Julie Auger
jauger@indiana.edu

Professor Oana Panaïté
opanaite@indiana.edu