By the end of the F200-F250 sequence, students should be able to:

- describe and narrate in major time/aspect frames; know most informal and some formal settings
- speak about concrete and factual topics of personal and public interest
- be understood without difficulty by speakers unaccustomed to non-native speakers
- write cohesive paragraph-length discourse

Also, students who complete the World Languages and Cultures requirement will demonstrate:

1. an understanding of culture within a global and comparative context (specifically, an understanding that a particular culture is one of many diverse cultures and that alternate perceptions and behaviors may be based in cultural differences);
2. knowledge of global issues, processes, trends, and systems (such as economic and political interdependency among nations, environmental-cultural interaction, global governance bodies, and nongovernmental organizations);
3. knowledge of other cultures (including beliefs, values, perspectives, practices, and products);
4. the ability to use cultural knowledge, diverse cultural frames of reference, and alternate cultural perspectives to think critically and solve problems;
5. the ability to communicate and connect with people in other language communities in a range of settings for a variety of purposes, developing skills in each of the four modalities: speaking (productive), listening (receptive), reading (receptive), and writing (productive) [N.B. This learning outcome applies specifically to students who study a foreign language.];
6. the ability to use foreign language skills and/or knowledge of other cultures to extend access to information, experiences, and understanding.

Course description

This course is the fourth of a four-semester introduction to the French language and the Francophone cultures of the world. It is designed to help students improve their knowledge and understanding of France and Francophone cultures as well as communication skills in French, emphasizing speaking, listening, reading, and writing.

Required Textbook and Course Materials:

- MyFrenchLab (MFL) course access code for the integrated version of MFL with Canvas that you can buy at the IU Bookstore or directly from Pearson. Do not buy a non-integrated access code from a 3rd-party vendor. If you previously purchased a multi-semester access code (for the non-integrated version) which is still valid for this semester, then please contact Pearson directly. Please log in first to <https://account.mypearson.com/>, then go to purchase history to see what length you bought. When contacting Pearson, include documentation showing you should still have access to MFL (such as a screen shot of your purchase history) which should allow you to receive an access code for the integrated version of MFL with Canvas for free (since you already purchased it). This access code will get you access to the e-text and workbook for our textbook:
- Réseau: Communication, Intégration, Intersections (Second Edition). 2015. Schultz, J-M, & Tranvouez, M-P. Pearson Publishers. You have access to the e-text through MFL. In addition, you should have a binder-ready loose leaf copy of the paper edition of the textbook in order to follow the activities that we will do during our online meetings.

Recommended:

- Morton, Jacqueline. English Grammar for Students of French, 6th edition. If you have not yet used this book, it is an excellent resource which explains in plain English how grammar works in both English and French. Relevant page numbers are noted on the syllabus schedule. (Note that MyFrenchLab also has some English grammar tutorials, but they are not as detailed as what you will find in this book.)
- An excellent French-English dictionary such as the Collins-Robert.

→We will be using textbook activities in class most days. Have your Réseau textbook at hand when you log in to each meeting!

Class format

In order to achieve the objectives described above, classroom activities will focus on practice and reinforcement of materials covered in the textbook. The nature of F250 is highly interactive; you will speak French with your classmates and work together on various activities. For successful interactions in class, make sure that you are well prepared before the class period. You cannot expect to understand materials, or to speak, read and write about topics that you haven't spent a sufficient amount of time preparing.

Grade calculation:
1. Preparation/Attendance/Participation	12%
2. MyFrenchLab (MFL) online homework (daily)	25%
3. Writing assignments	21%
- 4 compositions + 4 corrections (16%)
- Discussion questions (5%)
4. Culture presentation (5%) & responses (2%)	7%
5. Recorded Zoom conversations	10%
6. Exams	25%
- 2 mid-semester exams (10%)
- Final exam (15%)

Grading

Grades will be calculated according to the following scale. Grades are not curved, and there is no extra credit offered in French F250.

(100-97.5%) = A+	(89.4-87.5%) = B+	(79.4-77.5%) = C+	(69.4-67.5%) = D+
(97.4-92.5%) = A	(87.4-82.5%) = B	(77.4-72.5%) = C	(67.4-62.5%) = D
(92.4-89.5%) = A-	(82.4-79.5%) = B-	(72.4-69.5%) = C-	(62.4-59.5%) = D-
(59.4-0%) = F

CLASS PARTICIPATION AND PREPARATION (12%)

Before each class period, it is important that you study the material assigned for that day (vocabulary, structures, readings) and complete the assigned MFL exercises. In order to prioritize discussing the day's material in French during class time, there are several English-language resources (English Grammar for Students of French, MFL tutorials and readiness check, web resources (see the Canvas home page)), in addition to textbook explanations in French, that can help you prepare at home for the online meetings. Speaking French regularly is essential for improving your proficiency, and you should come to each meeting prepared to speak and use the vocabulary and structures for that session.

Most students feel nervous or shy speaking a foreign language; regular participation in class will help you become more comfortable speaking (in any language) and will help you progress as quickly as possible in the language. Do not worry about making mistakes – making mistakes is a normal and documented part of the learning process! We will focus more on the message you are trying to communicate than on any grammatical mistakes you make while talking. If you think you know the answer (even if you're not sure!), raise your hand! Even if your instructor does not call on you (likely in an attempt to give other students a chance to speak), he/she will keep your effort in mind when evaluating that day's participation grade.

You are expected to log in on time and to remain connected and attentive until the instructor ends the class. Late connections to the class and early disconnections from the online classroom will result in a lower participation score for the day at the discretion of your instructor. If you must leave the class for any reason, please inform the instructor beforehand. You are also expected to refrain from eating, cell phone use, and other disruptive behavior (chatting, exploring the web, doing other homework, etc.), all of which may impact your daily participation grade.

A maximum participation score of 10 points can be earned per week of class. Your instructor will assign a participation grade on a daily basis and average your daily scores from each day of the week to compute your weekly participation grade. The following are general guidelines your instructor will follow in evaluating your participation grade:

9-10 points	Used only French and spoke often during class period. Participated actively in group work. Volunteered often and in a meaningful way to class discussion. Listened attentively and responded to others. Was well prepared for class and adequately able to respond to detailed questions about material.
7-8 points	Used mostly French but used English on occasion (including during partner work). Spoke often during class period. Participated actively in group work. Volunteered occasionally. Listened and responded generally to others. Was adequately prepared for class and able to respond correctly to basic questions about material.
5-6 points	Used quite a bit of English on several occasions during group work and/or whole class discussion OR didn't speak often. Not very engaged in group activities. Did not volunteer during classroom discussion. Did not have textbook. Was not familiar with the material for the day, and unable to respond to basic questions about it.
0-4 points	Used more English than French OR did not speak during class. Was not engaged in group activities, was distracting to others, or strayed from the topic during group activities. Chatted in English with classmates, did homework, fell asleep, texted, or did not pay attention during class activities.

Absences and Tardies

You are expected to treat your attendance in this online class with the same degree of responsibility that is expected of you in a regular classroom, or in a job. You should be in class every day, thoroughly prepared to participate actively in activities and discussion.

If you must miss class for any reason, notify your instructor promptly. You are still responsible for all work due on that day. You should inform your instructor of your absence and still submit your homework via Canvas and/or MyFrenchLab. If your absence is excused, you may make up participation points, homework, or exams. Exams should be made up within a week if possible. No participation points, homework, or exams may be made up for unexcused absences.

Excusable absences include illness, tragedy, religious observance, participation on a team in university-sponsored athletic events, and performances required for a degree. Work, job interviews, weddings, conferences, rehearsals or practice, study sessions, exams for other classes, court or medical appointments, and travel may not be considered excused. An absence will be excused only if written, verifiable documentation is presented to the instructor by the next online class you attend. The documentation must be official in nature, must clearly and fully explain why the absence was necessary, and must be signed and dated.

Should you miss a test for a valid, documented reason, you will have exactly 24 hours to contact the instructor and present written, verifiable proof of a legitimate reason. Out of fairness to all students of F250, there will be NO EXCEPTIONS to these testing policies.

Given that participation in class activities is an essential part of learning a foreign language, after the first unexcused absence, your overall course grade will be lowered by 5% for each additional unexcused absence.

At the end of each week (or shortly thereafter), I will post that week's participation grade on Canvas. If you are absent that week, I will make a comment in that Canvas grade. You will therefore be able to monitor your attendance record throughout the semester; notify your instructor as soon as possible if you notice any discrepancies.

Also note that a slip from the Health Center that simply states that you were seen at the Health Center ("verification of visit") does not count as adequate documentation for an absence. Rather, a dated and signed note from a doctor stating that you were unable (or will be unable) to attend class is required. Ask the nurse of your practitioner for documentation before you leave the Health Center that day.

You are advised to keep your instructor apprised of any and all circumstances which may impact your attendance and participation. Exceptional situations will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

CELL PHONES, TABLETS, AND OTHER DEVICES NOT NEEDED FOR CLASS PARTICIPATION MUST BE TURNED OFF AND PUT AWAY DURING CLASS TIME.

HOMEWORK

All homework designated under "Préparation" on your syllabus is to be completed BEFORE coming to class. For all homework assignments, pay attention to the instructions provided for each assignment in Canvas. LATE HOMEWORK IS NOT ACCEPTED, except under extreme circumstances (that are documented).

MyFrenchLab (MFL) (25%)

The MFL exercises are intended to prepare you for the week's lesson in advance, to enable you to participate in class discussion and activities, and to reinforce your understanding and mastery of the vocabulary and structures in each chapter. You are expected to keep up with the MFL on a daily basis. MFL assignments for each week are usually due on Sunday and/or Tuesday, but check the schedule for exceptions. Submissions are due by midnight on the day listed. There will be no grace period for missed assignments unless you have provided your instructor with documentation for an excused absence. MFL activities form a substantial component of the overall course grade. It is therefore vital that you verify that your Pearson account is working and that you keep up with the daily homework.

How to do homework in MFL: In the MFL platform, you have an unlimited number of attempts to submit an exercise or activity for a grade. Should any answer submitted be incorrect, the program will give you hints and will point you to the grammar or vocabulary point within Réseau. Be aware, however, that the program will only provide you with the correct answer after the due date for a given assignment, and that your instructor can and will see each attempt you make (as well as the amount of time it took you to complete the activity).

Writing assignments: Compositions and DQs (21%)

There are two types of writing exercises in F250. The first consists of practice writing formal compositions in French. You will choose a topic from those provided by the book and write a composition, where the required minimum length of each composition will increase throughout the semester (250 → 300 → 350 → 400 words). Before each submission there will be in-class practice. Check the instructions for each composition on Canvas Assignments.

The second type of writing practice involves reading texts and preparing your answers to discussion questions (DQs) so that you can maximally contribute to in-class discussions. Both of these types of writing assignments are to be typed and submitted electronically via Canvas Assignments by the specified deadlines on the syllabus schedule. For discussion questions, you should have a copy of your answers ready to discuss during class.

Your instructor is going to grade your written assignments directly on Canvas. In order to maximize learning, he/she will write correction codes which will point to specific types of errors. Used for both compositions and discussion questions, the list of these codes will be available on Canvas.

For each of the four written compositions (but not for DQs), you will do a correction which involves fixing the errors indicated by the codes. You will then submit this corrected version for credit. If you have any questions about these errors, consult your instructor during office hours for additional explanations.

Turnitin and translation programs

Turnitin is web-based plagiarism detection software that compares the originality of the work you turn in against a variety of other sources, including:

- Both a current and an extensively archived copy of the publicly accessible Internet
- Commercial pages from books, newspapers, and journals
- Other student papers and written work already submitted to Turnitin

NOT permitted for written work: Translation programs. Not only do translation programs produce poor results, but their use in your French class is considered cheating (see Statement on Academic Honesty and more information on the last page). Your professor and textbook are more effective resources. Consult them as much as you like! Of course, using a dictionary, especially while doing your homework, is highly encouraged.

Recorded Zoom conversations (10%)

Each week, you will record a conversation with one of your classmates, choosing from conversation prompts based on chapter themes and readings. These conversations are designed to give you speaking practice using the chapter themes and readings as well as practice working with new vocabulary and grammar structures. More details on setup and organization of these recordings will be provided on Canvas.

Culture presentations (7%)

Each student will choose from a list of topics ONE cultural presentation to present to classmates in a pre-recorded Zoom presentation with accompanying PowerPoint. The goal of the presentations is to provide cultural background/more detailed information to your classmates on topics related to in-class literary and cultural readings. Presentations will be in French, should include visuals, be engaging and informative, and should last between 6-7 minutes. In addition to your own speaking time (6-7 minutes), you are permitted to show well-chosen and relevant YouTube clips up to 3 minutes in length. You may use the internet to find your information, but you must properly cite all your sources! Choose from the topics available on the last page of the syllabus. Presentations will be evaluated based on the quality and accuracy of information presented, appropriate length, quality of visual aids, comprehensible pronunciation, grammatical accuracy, and delivery (lively, no overreliance on notes/reading, confident presentation manner).

and loud, clear speaking voice. This presentation is worth 5% of the final course grade. You will also give feedback on your classmates' presentations (2% of the final course grade).

Chapter exams and final exam (25%)

The chapter exams are designed to evaluate your progress in French in the areas of listening, reading, writing, speaking, and cultural knowledge. They will test mastery of vocabulary and grammatical details as well as your ability to use and interpret the language as a whole. The first two exams will cover topics from chapters 7-8 and 9-10, respectively. The final exam will be comprehensive, with special emphasis on chapter 11, for which no chapter test is given. You are responsible for making sure that you do not have schedule conflicts (e.g., other final exams) on the date and time of the F250 final exam (May 1st, 12:30 – 2:30 P.M.). If you need to schedule a make-up final exam, contact your instructor and provide documentation that proves you cannot attend the regularly scheduled exam; this will allow you to seek approval to take the make-up final exam.

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION:

Religious Observance

Indiana University excuses absences for students who are observing an officially recognized religious holiday. You must submit an official form to your instructor within the first two weeks of the semester (by January 20, 2017) requesting that you be excused for the relevant religious holidays. Please note that absences are excused on the day of the religious holiday only; additional days (e.g., days to travel) are NOT excused. The official form and further information can be found at: <http://vpfaa.indiana.edu/forms/index.shtml> (scroll down to the heading "Religious Observances").

Students with Disabilities

Students with documented disabilities who will require accommodations should contact the Office of Disability Services for Students at 812-855-7578. If you already have a memo from this office, please contact your instructor as soon as possible so that together you may discuss a plan for the semester.

Incompletes

A final course grade of I (Incomplete) may only be assigned if extreme circumstances occur during the last four weeks of the semester. A student must be passing in order to be considered for an incomplete, and at least 60% of the coursework must be completed. An incomplete may NOT be issued for chronic missed work over the course of the semester. All incompletes must be approved by the F250 course supervisor.

IMPORTANT NOTE ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY, PLAGIARISM AND ORIGINALITY OF WRITTEN WORK IN F200 AND F250

Academic Honesty

All work in F250 must be entirely your own. Cheating in any form results in sanctions ranging from no credit for the assignment in question to a grade of "F" in the course, at the discretion of the instructor and/or Course Supervisor. In addition, regardless of the sanction imposed, ALL cases of academic dishonesty are reported to the Office of Student Ethics (Dean of Students) and become part of the student's disciplinary record.

Approved writing resources

In addition to your instructor and your textbooks (including Réseau and English Grammar for Students of French), the following are acceptable online resources that you may find useful for your writing:

Wordreference.com - online English-French dictionary

French.about.com - French grammar explanations

Tex's French Grammar - <https://www.laits.utexas.edu/tex/> - open-source French grammar lessons

Bonpatron.com – basic writing editor

Translation programs, native speaker friends/family/acquaintances or tutors are not permitted to write or correct your written work in F200 and F250!

What is the difference between translation software and a dictionary?

A dictionary allows you to look up an individual word or expression (for example SIMPLE NOUNS: “pillowcase; computer science; sunrise; aardvark; oil painting; stomach ache”; VERBS: “to get over something; to study abroad; to build; to eat; to step on”; ADJECTIVES: “broken; colorful; delicious; funny”; PREPOSITIONS AND CONNECTORS: “furthermore; toward; because of; due to; besides” etc.

Translation software is any tool, including Google, that allows you to submit a portion of a sentence, whole sentence, paragraph or entire composition to be translated from one language to another. Typing “How do you say ‘The student who was next to me on the bus’ in French?” into the Google search bar (or AboutFrench.com, or any other software, search engine or website that has translation capabilities) is unethical, for example, since it constitutes a complex noun-phrase. Use of any kind of translation tool beyond single words/expressions is not permitted, is considered cheating, and constitutes plagiarism. Why is translation software not allowed? Because one of the goals of studying a foreign language is to learn how a given language, and language(s), work in general, and how to put the language together yourself to make meaning. A word of caution: sentences and paragraphs produced using translation software are easy for your teacher to spot. They typically contain very advanced, overly sophisticated structures far beyond the level of an F200-F250 student’s abilities. If you cannot explain a structure, or identify the tense you used and explain why you used it, the writing will not be considered to be your own. If your teacher has concerns about the originality of your work, you will also be asked to produce writing on a similar topic in controlled office conditions, and the quality of that writing will be compared with the quality of the original assignment. If the proctored writing exercise is of significantly lower quality, your instructor is required by the university to submit an academic misconduct report to the Office of Student Ethics. (See <https://studentaffairs.indiana.edu/office-student-ethics/misconduct-charges/index.shtml> for more information). Bottom line: DON’T DO IT! Cheating and getting a misconduct report on your academic record is not worth it!

When in doubt, or if you need help with your writing, set up an appointment to meet with your instructor (online and/or in person).

Please read, sign, and return the Statement of Academic Honesty by the end of the first week.

Syllabus F250 – Spring 2017 – ONLINE CALENDAR

In this class, we will be covering 5 chapters, which comes out to roughly three weeks per chapter. Like in the traditional face-to-face class, we will be moving quickly so it is imperative that you keep on top of things and not fall behind! Here is a daily “at-a-glance” calendar to help you plan and organize your F250 work schedule. Please PRINT OUT THIS CALENDAR and post it somewhere where you can easily see it.

Homework (MyFrenchLab and Canvas assignments) is due and must be submitted on the day indicated on the calendar by 11:59 pm. With the exception of week one, LATE HOMEWORK IS NOT ACCEPTED.

For the first week only, there will be a grace period for MFL. You can submit your MFL homework for Jan. 15 and 17 by Thursday, January 19 at 11:59 pm, since not all students may have resolved MFL technical issues between our first and second meetings. However, starting after Week 2’s meeting, please submit the homework as per the deadlines you see on the syllabus and MFL calendar, since late submissions will not be accepted.

The Readiness Checks and Tutorials in MyFrenchLab are designed to prepare you for the grammar you will be reviewing/learning/using in the Student Activities Manual in MFL and in Réseau (and in class).

Homework due dates: Note that MFL due dates will NOT appear in your Canvas feed. Instead, you must access them via the My Lab and Mastering tab found on the left-hand side of our Canvas course site.

All other assignments submitted for a grade, including written Discussion Questions (DQs), Short Recorded Conversations with a peer, Compositions and Composition Rewrites, and the Culture Presentation WILL appear in your Canvas feed. For each of these assignments, check the assignment instructions on Canvas for important details regarding what you are expected to do.

This calendar is subject to change. Check e-mail and Canvas regularly for updates.

Présentation culturelle topics

Each student will select one of the following topics. They are mostly drawn from the Stratégie de recherche sections which invite students to do outside research on a particular topic. You will organize your research into a recorded PowerPoint presentation lasting 5-7 minutes.

You will record and present your topic during the period in which that topic's chapter is being covered. Take this into consideration when choosing your topic.

Send me a message with your top 4 choices, by January 17th. Once topics have been chosen, the presentation schedule will be added to Canvas.
